

About Deloitte

Who we are

Deloitte has approximately 286,000 professionals at member firms delivering services in audit & assurance, consulting, financial advisory, risk advisory, tax and related services in more than 150 countries and territories. Learn more in the 2018 Deloitte Global Report.

Our values

Deloitte is a combination of values, competences and ambitions of its most important and valuable asset: its people. The reputation and standards of excellence achieved are the evidence of our continuous search for the best talent.

We are a global brand with a globally shared vision: to be considered a standard of excellence.

The sharing of values and beliefs is what defines and ensures Deloitte's international alignment. The keys to our genetic value map are:

- Integrity
- Commitment to each other
- Outstanding value to markets and clients
- Strength from cultural diversity

These are the shared values that define us, inspire our professionals and keep them focused on their true priorities from both a personal and career perspective.

Global figures

At Deloitte we create multi-disciplinary teams in order to implement client tailored solutions that add value to their organizations.

Our capacity of analysis, strategic reflection and fulfilment is an asset offered by us to our clients and also serves as a testimony to the standards of excellence that Deloitte constantly achieves.

Approximately 88% of the companies listed in 2018 Fortune Global 500® engage Deloitte's services.

Local figures

In Portugal we ranked number one in revenue amongst the Big Four and we hold the largest market share in tax services for the 250 largest national companies.

Our member firm has more than 2,500 professionals who share common values and motivation across the Deloitte universe: to become the standard of excellence for our clients.

Initiatives

Deloitte believes in best practices and actively promotes them in the market and among society. We organize a diverse range of initiatives seeking to mitigate the complexity of business related issues and reflect on their impact within a social context, thereby contributing towards raising public opinion as well as creating value for organizations.

Societal Impact

Deloitte has established a global impact management strategy that is tailored to the context of each member firm. Through the Corporate Social Responsibility area, we seek to achieve the purpose of Deloitte, to create a relevant impact towards our customers, our people and society.